Occupational Objective A position in the field of social work, where my personal aptitudes, interests, and educational background can be put to use in helping people.

Experience Highlights Department of Welfare
New York, N. Y.

1970 to Present Child Welfare worker. Worked with groups, helping children, as well as adults, to benefit from group activities; helping them to understand themselves and others better and to work with one another to achieve a common goal.

Consulted and worked with parents, teachers, counselors, and other school personnel in identifying and seeking a solution to the problems that hinder satisfactory adjustment.

1968 to 1970 Recreation programs. Continuously planned and conducted leisure-time programs and informal educational activities for children and adolescents, for people in hospitals and homes for the aged, and for many other kinds of groups.

Aided patients and their families with social problems accompanying illness, recovery, and rehabilitation. Functioned as part of the medical team composed of physicians, therapists, nurses and social workers.

Caseworker. My duties as a caseworker were to identify the social problems of individuals and families through interviews. Tried to aid them in understanding their problems and in securing necessary services, including financial assistance, foster care, and home-maker service.
